

STAY OUT OF OUR BEDROOM!

Hobby breeders raise their kittens and puppies entirely in the family home.

Birthing often takes place in the master bedroom.

Preventing the cruel or neglectful treatment of animals is a laudable goal, but the goal does not justify the means of requiring warrantless searches of private homes.

The privacy of the home is a fundamental right of American citizens.

Most would agree that protection of children is at least as important as protection of animals, yet no citizen would condone a law requiring warrantless searches of homes to ensure the proper care of children residing therein.